STATE OF FLORIDA

MILITARY DEPARTMENT

OFFICE OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL

St. Augustine

1 January 1959

His Excellency, The Governor of Florida and Commander-in-Chief, Florida National Guard, Tallahassee, Florida

Sir:

Submitted herewith in accordance with Section 250.10, Florida Statutes, 1949, is the biennial report of The Adjutant General of Florida, pertaining to the administration of the Military Department, State of Florida for the calendar years 1957 and 1958.

This report is intended to fulfill two purposes, (1) to provide information on the Florida National Guard for interested governmental and private organizations, and (2) to provide permanent reference material of historical value.

Respectfully yours,

MARK W. LANCE

Major General

The Adjutant General

GENERAL

MISSION

The responsibility and mission of the Florida National Guard has remained unchanged for the period of this report.

(1) The State mission is to provide military organizations trained and equipped to function when necessary in the protection of life and property and in the preservation of peace, order, and the public safety, as directed by competent State authority; and,

(2) As a reserve component of the Army of the United States and the Air Force of the United States, to be capable of operating efficiently in event of a National emergency.

SUMMARY

During the biennium some policies adopted by the Department of Defense, and others recommended for adoption by that agency, had quite an effect upon the National Guard as a whole, including the Florida National Guard. The first of these requiring that certain non-prior service personnel enlisting in the National Guard be required to perform six months active duty for training upon their enlistment or shortly thereafter, increased the burden of recruiting placed upon the National Guard unit. Another move by the Department of Defense required the reduction of the National Guard by approximately 35,000 men. While this directive caused some administrative problems, the Florida National Guard was able to adjust its proportion of the reduction administratively without too much difficulty. The proposal of the Department of Defense for another reduction of approximately 40,000 in the strength of the National Guard brought such a storm of protest from the National Guard, the Governors of the various States and from the public in general, that Congress took action to retain the strength of the National Guard at 400,000, despite the recommendation of the Department of Defense. The controversy over strength, lasting the better part of the biennium, brought to the general public a better awareness and knowledge of the National Guard, which apparently tended to react favorably for the National Guard.

During the biennium there has been no material change in the organization of the Florida National Guard. In our Army National Guard we still share with the State of Georgia the 48th Armored Division, and with the State of South Carolina, the 51st Infantry Division. Our antiaircraft Group remains unchanged, as well as the other non-divisional troops within the State. The Air National Guard in Florida still consists of the Air Group and there has been no change during the biennium.

Our training during the biennium has remained at a very high level. The return of men from six months active duty training to their units of the Florida National Guard is having a beneficial effect in increasing the state of training within the units, to the end that on 1 October 1958 all units went into unit training programs and excluded from their training programs basic training in armory status. Our personnel continued to take full advantage of the educational opportunities offered by the Army and the Air Force by each year filling our quotas to the technical and service schools operated by these agencies. Both in 1957 and 1958 additional funds were secured from the National Guard Bureau to send additional members above our quota to these service schools. The increased knowledge gained is having a material effect upon the increasing efficiency of the various units.

During the biennium the high degree of training gained recognition for elements of the Florida National Guard when in 1957 and again in 1958 the 48th Armored Division was awarded the Third United States Army Divisional Award for Training, as the outstanding division in this Army Area. It was indeed an outstanding achievement for this division to be so honored in two succeeding years. The Florida Air National Guard gained worldwide recognition and renown when the Rocket Team of the 125th Fighter Group represented the entire Air National Guard in the Sixth Worldwide Weapons Meet at Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida in October 1958. Competing in the meet were teams representing various elements of the Air Force located throughout the world. The Florida team won first place by firing a perfect score, thereby setting a record, as this score has never been fired in a meet before.

The construction program for armories submitted to the Florida Legislature during the biennium was approved but on account of a shortage of Federal funds only a small portion of the program could be completed. The requirements for armories for the uncompleted part of this program still remain and it is hoped that it will be possible to complete this program during the coming biennium.

The continuing increase of the population of Florida is creating new problems for the National Guard, as well as other agencies of the State government. Also, the continued movement of industry into the State brings with it the industrial and labor problems inherent thereto. Recognizing its responsibility to perform its State mission in the protection of life and property, and to preserve peace and order, the Florida National Guard continues in its efforts to maintain an efficient, well trained, well equipped force, ready for use by the State in any emergency that might arise.

Detailed reports as to organization, training, administration, logistical and fiscal support are to be found in this biennial report under their appropriate heading.

PUBLICATIONS

The Publications Section, under the supervision of the Administrative Officer, Office of The Adjutant General, functions under the provisions of Army Regulation 310-1, which establishes those policies and procedures incident to the requisitioning, storage, issuance and handling of Army publications and blank forms, as pertain to the training, administrative, and supply procedures for Florida National Guard Units.

Approximately thirty-six thousand (36,000) publications stock record cards are currently being maintained by this section. These cards reflect all classified, sensitive, accountable, superseded, and rescinded publications information. Approximately seven thousand (7,000) individual publications are currently stocked for unit issue.

During the two year period, 1 January 1957 through 31 December 1958, this section distributed approximately 38,500 copies of new publications and blank forms on an "initial issue basis" to one hundred and thirty-five (135) Army National Guard units and memorandum accounts. In addition, the following number of Unit Requisitions were processed for additional and/or replacement publications and blank forms:

	Requisitions Filled
1 Jan - 31 Dec 1957	1,810
1 Jan - 31 Dec 1958	2,140

The above total number of requisitions for the two year period comprised 29,728 separate line items of forms or publications. During the same period this section received 5,625 line items of publications and blank forms from the Department of the Army Publications Depot to replenish stock, and processed for shipment 3,500 packages for delivery to National Guard Units.

Distribution and storage of recruiting and/or publicity materials, such as posters and pamphlets, television films and radio shows distributed by the National Guard Bureau are also a responsibility of this section.

In 1958, this section assumed the responsibility of distribution and storage of approximately 1,200 individual copies of Equipment Parts Lists, (check lists), and the storage and issue of USP&FO Forms for the U. S. Property and Fiscal Officer for Florida. This section was also charged with the responsibility of supporting the Office of the Senior Army Advisor of the Florida National Guard with publications and blank forms.

A considerable increase in publication requirements is anticipated during the next biennium, based on future reorganization of National Guard Units under the new Pentomic Concept.

This section prepares and maintains an Addressograph Plate file for all units of the Florida National Guard, all Departmental Agencies, and all individuals to whom mail is processed. The National Matches were conducted again at Camp Perry, Ohio for both the Rifle and the Pistol. These matches are under the supervision of the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Marksmanship and the National Rifle Association. The Florida National Guard again sent a rifle team to these matches and for the first time in many years also sent a pistol team. ARMORY BOARD, STATE OF FLORIDA

Under Sections 250.40 and 250.41, Florida Statutes, the Armory Board, State of Florida is charged with all matters pertaining to Armories, camp sites, rifle ranges and other National Guard installations within the State of Florida.

Members

Honorable LeRoy Collins	— Governor, Chairman
Major General Mark W. Lance	— The Adjutant General, Vice Chairman
Major General Maxwell C. Snyder	— 48th Armored Division
Brig. General Henry W. McMillan	— 51st Infantry Division

Colonel John W. Snyder	— 48th Armored Division Trains
Colonel Charles F. Riggle, Jr.	— Headquarters, Florida Air National Guard

The Armory Board Trust Fund, established under the provision of Chapter 250.41, Florida Statutes, derives its funds from the management and operation of Armory Board properties, such as royalties for mining minerals, sale of timber, pulp wood and other forest products, sale of salvage materials, service contracts with the Federal government. Total receipts of funds by Armory Board Trust Fund are as follows:

Fiscal year ending 30 June 1957	—	$187,593.00
Fiscal year ending 30 June 1958	—	$248,301.00

With the assistance of Federal, State and community funds, the Armory Board has been able to improve considerably the Armory facilities of the Florida National Guard, both by improvement of the existing permanent type Armories, and construction of other permanent type Armories replacing temporary structures.

Armory Board Policy on Armory Use

Basically, Armories must be for the housing, training and administration of the military. The Armory Board, however, recognizes the fact that the National Guard stems from the grass roots. A company or a battery is a community affair, the personnel is composed of the sons and husbands of the citizenry, and the support of the community is vital to the success of this component of the State and National Defense. Military facilities must necessarily be constructed from money received from the taxpayers and additional justification for the expenditure of funds can be placed on the construction of Armories where, in addition to their basic use, they can be of some value to the community for community affairs. National Guard Armories, because of the nature of use requiring the storage of classified documents and materiel, must be under the control of the military, and the local Post Commander is delegated this control and management by the Armory Board. It is not only the policy but the desire of the Armory Board that Armories be utilized by the citizenry of the community to the fullest extent possible where the use is not to the detriment of the public interest and does not interfere materially with its primary use, which is the training of the military unit, or units, stationed thereat. Inasmuch as the use of any building requires expense as pertains to supervision, utilities, sanitary supplies, cleaning and other maintenance, it is necessary that funds in the form of rental accrue to defray this additional expense. The amount of such rental is determined by the Post Commander, assisted by other officers comprising the Post Council, and is normally based on the use to be made of the building and whether the enterprise is charitable or commercial in nature.

CAMP BLANDING MILITARY RESERVATION

Pursuant to the provision of Public Law 493 of the 83rd Congress, approved 14 July 1954, an Agreement was consummated between the Armory Board, State of Florida and the United States of America on the 24th day of January 1955, and on that same date a deed was executed, conveying approximately 40,000 acres of Federal lands contiguous to the approximately 30,000 acres of land owned by the Armory Board at Camp Blanding, to the Armory Board, State of Florida. Under the provisions of the aforementioned Law, Agreement and Deed, the Armory Board is required to maintain all lands at Camp Blanding as a military reservation, prepare and implement a forest management plan on former Federal lands and continue to make improvements to the property. Several sales of timber designed to provide an improvement cut to the forest have been made. Many miles of fence and roadways have been constructed and numerous draining structures have been placed to afford passage across streams. Under the provisions of the instruments by which the Armory Board acquired the property, all expenditures are subject to the approval of the District Engineer, acting for the Secretary of the Army, and any surplus of revenue after expenditure must be divided equally between the United States of America and the Armory Board, State of Florida at the end of each fiscal year.

Camp Blanding Management Fund

The Camp Blanding Management Fund was established under the provisions of Chapter 250.41, Florida Statutes, 1949, as a result of the Agreement between the Armory Board, State of Florida and the United States of America, dated 24 January 1955, which Agreement was required by Public Law 493, 83rd Congress, approved 14 July 1954 (68 Stat. 474). This fund derives its income from management and operation of the former Federal lands at Camp Blanding, which includes royalties for mining minerals, sale of timber, pulpwood and other timber products. Total receipts of funds by the Camp Blanding Management Fund are as follows:

Fiscal year ending 30 June 1957	—	$118,133.00
Fiscal year ending 30 June 1958	—	$319,034.00

Utilization

The Camp Blanding Military Reservation is being utilized by the Florida National Guard for the training of troops. Training has consisted of field maneuvers, small arms firing, antiaircraft subcaliber firing and tank subcaliber firing. It is used for the receipt, storage and issue of Federal property allocated to the Florida National Guard. Maintenance Shops at Camp Blanding perform all repairs and maintenance to National Guard property which cannot be taken care of by the units at home station, and a storage site for the storage of unit vehicles over and above that actually needed by the troops at home station is operated.

The Florida Development Commission continues to utilize a portion of Camp Blanding as a distribution center for surplus property obtained by them for educational institutions in the State of Florida. The facilities used are owned by the Armory Board and made available to the Development Commission at no cost.

Under an agreement between the Armory Board and the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, portions of Camp Blanding were opened to public hunting during November 1956. Camp

Blanding continues to be open to public hunting under the control of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, and the Armory Board is cooperating with the Game Commission in the propagation of game.

Certain portions of Camp Blanding have been designated as a Seed Producing Area. Under a letter-agreement between the Armory Board and the Florida Board of Forestry, slash pine plantations for the production of desirable seed trees have been established under the supervision of the Forest Service.

Training Activities

During the biennium, the rifle, pistol and tank ranges at Camp Blanding were utilized by the Florida National Guard for week-end training. Approximately 180 days of firing were conducted by the Florida National Guard during this period, with an estimated 21,078 man days of firing. In addition, the rifle range was utilized by personnel of the Marine Aviation Detachment and Marine Air Reserve Training Detachment, Jacksonville Naval Air Station; Headquarters, Reserve Officers Training Corps and Advisor Group, Gainesville; U. S. Army Reserve units, Jacksonville; U. S. Naval Station, Green Cove Springs; Coast Guard, Port of Jacksonville; and U. S. Naval Air Station (Auxiliary), Sanford, with an estimated 12,152 man days of firing. Approximately 242 days of firing were conducted by these other components.

A bombing range is located at Stevens Lake and is utilized by the U. S. Atlantic Fleet, Fleet Air, Jacksonville Naval Air Station, under a special permit from the Armory Board, State of Florida.

During the biennium, the facilities at Camp Blanding were utilized by the Florida National Guard for the purpose of conducting staff conferences and unit training. A number of map problems and unit exercises were conducted throughout the training terrain of the reservation. There were 67 unit week-ends of utilization of facilities incident to range activities. These included overnight accommodations and meals.

Forest Management and Allied Operations

During the biennium, the forest management program at Camp Blanding was expanded to include the employment of a full time professional forest manager by the Armory Board. Working in cooperation with the U. S. Forestry Service and the Florida Board of Forestry, a General Forest Management Plan has been promulgated which is the basis of present and future operation of these natural resources.

Magnolia State Park

In August 1956 a request was submitted to the Armory Board by the Bradford County Negro Teachers Association for permission to utilize certain facilities at Camp Blanding for recreational purposes. Inasmuch as such civilian use would violate the security of the military reservation, it was deemed by the Armory Board in executive session 8 - 9 September 1956 that the request could not be granted. An alternate proposal was made and accepted whereby an area contiguous to Magnolia Lake in the south end of Camp Blanding might be turned over to the Florida Board of Parks and Historic Memorials, on a revocable license basis, for development as a Negro recreational area. The Armory Board entered into negotiations with the Florida Board of Parks and Historic Memorials for the above cited purpose, culminating in the execution of an Agreement between the aforementioned agencies whereby Magnolia Lake State Park was established. The 1957 session of the Florida State Legislature appropriated funds for the development of Magnolia Lake State Park. Due to limitation of State funds during fiscal year 1958, development of Magnolia Lake State Park was curtailed.

Florida Educational Television Commission

During the year 1958, the Armory Board issued a license to the Florida Educational Television Commission for a small tract of land within Camp Blanding for the purpose of erecting a microwave tower to be used as a relay station for transmission of signals from the University of Florida to the City of Jacksonville. This tower has been completed and will form an important link in the educational system of the State of Florida. This service by the Armory Board is without cost to the Florida Educational Television Commission.

STATE TANGIBLE PERSONAL PROPERTY

In order to comply with the provisions of the law enacted by the 1957 session of the Florida State Legislature as pertains to the accountability of State property, an exhaustive study was made of systems in an endeavor to arrive at the one which would be adequate, conclusive, economical and in consonance with the instructions issued by the State Auditor. It is desired to comment on the assistance and cooperation given by the State Auditing Department incident to this study which resulted in the system presently used. Attention is called to the fact that the Military Department properties are located from Pensacola on the west to Jacksonville on the east and Homestead on the south. In addition to State property located at Armories, the Military Department controls property at Camp Blanding, the Headquarters of the Florida National Guard at St. Augustine and the National Guard Air Base in Jacksonville, Florida. Under the system developed for accountability of property, all items have affixed thereto plates which are serially numbered and have the identification thereon of the Military Department, State of Florida. Each item of property is then recorded on an IBM punch card to reflect the property number, condition of item, nomenclature, the cost and location. Listings can be readily made by IBM system, giving complete information as pertains to each property account. There are within the Military Department approximately 70 Memorandum Receipt accounts involving tangible property valued at approximately $708,000.00.

FAITHFUL PERFORMANCE BOND

All commanders of units of the Florida National Guard and all employees of the Military Department (not otherwise required by law to be bonded) are bonded in the sum of $2,500.00 by a Public Employees Faithful Performance Blanket Position Bond. Each employee is bonded upon assumption of duty and remains covered by bond until cleared of all property and funds after being terminated from position.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION INSURANCE

The Military Department is a self insuror for employees paid from General Revenue Appropriation, and carries Workmen's Compensation on those employees paid from Armory Board Trust Fund and Camp Blanding Management Fund. During the fiscal years 1957 and 1958, a total of nine (9) claims in the amount of $3,470.32 were paid as self insuror, and a total of sixteen (16) claims were submitted to the insurance carrier for workmen's compensation claims filed on behalf of employees paid from the above cited Trust Funds.

STATE FUNDS

General Revenue Appropriation covers the administration, training, maintenance and operation of the Florida National Guard and the Military Department. Armory Board Trust Fund covers the management, maintenance and operation of Armory Board properties exclusive of the former Federal lands at Camp Blanding. Camp Blanding Management Fund covers the management, maintenance and operation of the former Federal lands at Camp Blanding.

ARMY NATIONAL GUARD

ORGANIZATION

There has been no change in the organization of the Florida Army National Guard during the biennium. Due to the policies of the Department of Defense in providing funds for the operation of the Army National Guard, it was necessary during the biennium for the National Guard Bureau to place maximum ceiling strengths upon each State. It was necessary for a number of units of the Florida Army National Guard to reduce their strength in order to come within the limitations set.

Organizations Allotted

	Allotted T/O Strength				Present Maximum Ceiling Strength

TRAINING

Objectives

To train each member of the Army National Guard to a degree of proficiency that he will be able to accomplish his assignment in either Federal or State service .

To train each unit of the Army National Guard to a degree of combat readiness that the unit will be able to accomplish its mission in either the Federal or State role.

Armory Training

During the biennium, all units conducted basic training, advanced individual training, and basic unit training. After 30 March 1957, all enlistees in the Army National Guard who were liable for active service under the Selective Service Law, were required to undergo six months active duty for training with the active Army. The effects of this program are now being appreciated at the unit level. For the first time, the Unit Commander has been relieved of the burden of conducting basic training of the individual soldier. As a result, on 1 October 1958 all units of the Florida Army National Guard were ordered to train under a basic unit training program. This higher level of training will result in increased effectiveness of units in the event they are called upon for either State or Federal Active Duty.

Maintenance of complex and costly equipment continues to be a problem. As of 30 September 1958, eighteen organizational maintenance shops were in operation to provide higher level of maintenance on trucks, tracked vehicles, tanks and other heavy ordnance. The resources of the eighteen organizational maintenance shops are, of necessity, limited and the unit must devote a considerable amount of its training time to maintenance of equipment.

Efforts to improve lesson plans and instructional methods continue. During this period great improvements have been made. The number of units conducting Officer and Non-Commissioned Officer schools in leadership and other related subjects has been increased.

During the biennium, the procedure for obtaining training aids has been simplified. Each Armory has an adequate supply on hand and, as their training progresses, can obtain on a loan basis the more complicated and costly training aids. During the biennium, motion picture projectors authorized for each armory, were replaced by new modern equipment. In addition, each armory has at least one opaque projector and one overhead projector. These projectors greatly increase the effectiveness of armory training. Training films, covering all appropriate subjects are available to the units on a loan basis from the Third United States Army.

Week-End Training

The continued emphasis on raising the level of training was reflected in a change over on 1 October 1958 from the basic and advanced individual training to basic unit training. This increase in the level of training has caused a requirement for more multiple drill or week-end training periods. During this biennium all units have engaged in week-end drills. During these drills, small arms marksmanship and squad problems are the principal subjects. These subjects are much more adaptable to week-end training than to armory training. They require daylight, longer periods of time and greater space for maneuver area. Due to the continued emphasis being placed on week-end training, the units of the Florida Army National Guard have been able to take more advanced training during their summer field training period.

Staff Training

Staff training has been continuous at battalion, regiment, combat command, or group, and division levels. Joint division staff conferences have been conducted with both Georgia and South Carolina. Staff Training material has been obtained from Army Service Schools for all headquarters of battalion level or higher. This material is most effective and provides a means for the staff to work as a unit.

Week-end Staff Meetings for the two-year period were conducted as follows:

UNITS

	1957	1958
48th Armored Diviison	2	1
Combat Command A	2
48th Armored Division Trains	2	1

The reduction in week-end staff meetings during 1958 was due to the limitation placed on training funds.

Annual Active Duty for Training

Active duty for training periods were used to gain proficiency in subjects not suitable for armory drill periods. Heavy equipment such as tanks, armored personnel carriers and howitzers were maneuvered and firing practices of large calibre guns were conducted. During this biennium, several units received Army Training Tests during their summer field training. The grades received on these tests reflect marked improvement during this period. As the proficiency of the units continued to increase, more time has been spent in field bivouac positions and troops lived under combat conditions.

In 1957 and 1958 the Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Florida Army National Guard, divided into three groups, supported the Major Commands of the Florida Army National Guard at their training site.

Active duty for training during this period took place as follows:

Accomplishments

The relative standing of the Florida Army National Guard among the forty-nine states, Hawaii, The District of Columbia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico is best shown by the following

Date	Aggregate Strength	Percentage Authorized Strength	Relative Standing
1 Jan 1957	7172	72.2	10
30 Sep 1958	6748	97.3	30

While the above figures show a decrease of approximately four hundred in strength the percentage of authorized strength shows a marked increase. This reduction in strength was due, to a great extent, to ceilings placed by higher headquarters. As shown above on 30 September 1958, the Florida Army National Guard was at 97.3% of its authorized strength. The drop from 10 to 30 in the relative standing was caused, in part, by failure of other states to reduce their strength as rapidly as did the Florida Army National Guard.

Armory Training

The continued emphasis being placed on increasing the effectiveness of Armory Training has resulted in a marked increase in the number of personnel that are qualified in their military occupational specialty (MOS). The following figures as of 30 September 1958, reflect this increased proficiency:

No of EM	No. Qualified in Individual Weapons	Qualified
6127	5503	89.8%
No of EM	No. Qualified in MOS	Qualified
6127	5535	90.3%

These figures clearly illustrate that the units of the Florida Army National Guard have reached a proficiency of training that insures their ability to perform their mission in either the State or Federal service.

Staff Training

As the units of the Florida Army National Guard progressed from individual type to unit type of training, the requirements placed on the commander and his staff have increased. Continued emphasis has been placed on staff training at battalion and higher levels. The staffs are responsible for the planning of all troop movement from the armory to the site of the annual active duty for training and return. In addition individual staff officers visit units to assist them. These visits are of value to the unit and to the commander are a means of maintaining standardization within units of the command.

School Training

As the equipment issued to units of the Florida Army National Guard increases in complexity and cost it is essential that selected officers and enlisted men be sent to schools conducted by the Active Army. In this respect members of the Florida Army National Guard have attended schools to the maximum extent permitted by the allotted funds.

Annual Active Duty for Training

During this biennium, the level of training has increased and more complex equipment has been issued to the Florida Army National Guard. Due to these two factors, the scope of summer field training has increased. Training schedules are rigid and all personnel must work hard. Attendance at active duty for training during 1957 was 94.4% and during the year 1958 was 91.3%.

Reserve Forces Act, 1955.

In 1955, the 84th Congress passed The Reserve Forces Act (RFA '55), which provided certain members of the National Guard and Organized Reserves could voluntarily apply for Six Months Active Duty for Training (ACDUTRA). Our first trainee entered the program on 3 October 1955 and as of 31 March 1957 a total of 133 had participated in the 6-mo ACDUTRA program. This program was made a mandatory condition for enlistment of non-prior service individuals on 1 April 1957 by a directive from the Department of the Army, and for a short while thereafter our recruiting dropped in the 17-18½ age bracket (High School Seniors), whereas enlistments increased in the 22-26 age group from individuals who elected membership in the National Guard with the 6-mo ACDUTRA requirement as a substitute for two years Active Federal Service through Selective Service System. The program has been well received by units throughout the State and little difficulty was experienced in meeting monthly input quotas. The following statistics are recorded:

Conclusion

During this biennium, the strength of the Florida Army National Guard was, by directive, reduced. The state of training of the individual and of the unit has shown a marked improvement. In addition, more costly and complex equipment has been received, new armories have been built and a large number of officers and men have entered on an active duty for training status to attend service schools. All of these factors contribute toward the increase in standards and effectiveness but in the final analysis the lion's share of the credit must go to the Commanders and key personnel who devote so much of their time to the Army National Guard of Florida.

SCHOOL PROGRAM

The attendance of Florida Army National Guard Officer and Enlisted Personnel at United States Army Service School Courses of Instruction continued as in previous years. All Federal funds authorized for this program were utilized for the training of newly commissioned officers, advanced training of officers, and training of key non-commissioned officers.

Third Army National Guard Division Training Trophy

This Trophy, established by the Commanding General, Third United States Army for award to the outstanding National Guard Division in the Third Army Area each Calendar Year, was awarded to the 48th Armored Division (Florida and Georgia), both in 1957 and 1958. This award, covering all phases of the Administrative and Training fields, reflects very favorably on the 48th Armored Division and the standards of the Florida Army National Guard.

MARKSMANSHIP PROGRAM

A program of individual and crew-served weapon marksmanship has been continuously carried forward during the biennium. The principal purpose of the program is to improve the ability of the individual guardsman to effectively use the weapon with which he is armed, and the one which is served by him as a member of a crew. Competitions are held all through the training year for the purpose of creating a desire for him to improve his abilities. Many factors have a bearing on this program, such as, the availability of ranges, other important training, the lack of time, etc. During 1958 the loss of the use of the rifle range at Morrison Field near West Palm Beach, seriously affected the program along the lower East Coast. Other areas have also been more or less affected by the lack of rifle ranges. The change-over to the new type of individual weapons training, known as "Train Fire," will no doubt retard this training until sufficient ranges can be secured and built.

Qualifications

The number of individuals qualifying with individual and crew-served weapons increased considerably in 1957 over the previous year, but during 1958 suffered a decline. The decline can be attributed to the reduction of strength, the importance of other training, and the loss of the lower East Coast rifle range.

ARMORIES REQUIRED

The Armories hereinafter listed represent facilities urgently needed to house organized units, to furnish necessary storage for State and Federal property, and to implement the training and administration of the Florida Army National Guard. The list indicates contemplated priorities for construction:

Note: Shed storage is required at installations where Armory facilities are adequate but do not provide protection from the elements for military vehicles and other military equipment. This lack of covered storage necessitates excessive maintenance costs and is causing serious deterioration of military equipment.

The Armories for Gainesville, Palmetto, Panama City and Greater Miami Area "A", and the extensions to the existing Armories at Tampa and Miami were included in the appropriation for construction during the current biennium. It appears, however, that due to circumstances beyond the control of the Military Department, contracts for construction cannot be let prior to the close of this fiscal year, at which time funds appropriated therefor will revert to General Revenue Unallocated.

While a three-unit Armory was programmed for Jacksonville, it was possible to construct only a two-unit-plus facility in the Cedar Hills area. The project proposed for Jacksonville above is a three-unit-plus Armory and will be located in the Arlington area.

State Funds

The Adjutant General submitted a budget for the construction of additional Armories to the 1957 session of the Legislature in the sum of $519,559.00. The Legislature appropriated the amount requested. It would appear that, due to matters beyond the control of the Military Department, only $108,618.00 of the appropriation will be expended and the amount of $476,925.00 will revert to General Revenue Unallocated.

Federal Funds

Federal funds to match State funds mentioned above were made available for an Armory at Lake City and Live Oak in the total amount of $248,028.84. In addition to the funds cited above, Federal funds were made available for an Armory at St. Petersburg in the total amount of $149,078.40.

Community Funds

Community funds were made available by the City of St. Petersburg and the County of Pinellas in order that the State have funds to match Federal funds for the purpose of constructing an Armory at St. Petersburg. This structure was completed and occupied by the National Guard units on 18 November 1958. Community funds were made available to assist in constructing and furnishing the National Guard Armory at Live Oak, Florida. In both instances, Agreements between the Armory Board and the communities cited above were made and separate trust funds established with the Treasurer of the State of Florida for each project. The following contributions have been made during the current biennium:

Live Oak	Board of Public Instruction, Suwannee County	$ 29,600.00
St. Petersburg	City of St. Petersburg	$ 43,069.00
	County of Pinellas	$ 43,068.13

Accomplishments

During the current biennium, construction was completed on the following Armories initiated during the previous biennium: Belle Glade, Chipley, Cocoa, Fort Pierce, Jacksonville (Cedar Hills), Lake Wales, Marianna, North Miami, Orlando, Palatka, Pensacola, Sarasota and St. Augustine. Federal funds were allocated to the State of Florida for the construction of National Guard Armories at Lake City and Live Oak in 1958. These projects were designed, bids solicited, and the contracts let in June 1958. Construction is scheduled for completion in March 1959. The National Guard Armory at St. Petersburg was completed 18 November 1958.

Future Program

In order to provide for the requirements of the Army National Guard of Florida in accordance with the present troop basis, it will be necessary to construct four (4) additional new Armories and to provide additions to two (2) existing Armories. The detailed justification for these buildings is included in another part of this report.

FEDERAL FUNDS AND EQUIPMENT

The United States Government, through the National Guard Bureau, allocates Federal funds to the State of Florida for the training, administration and supply of the Florida Army National Guard. It is the duty of the United States Property and Fiscal Officer for Florida to handle all details as pertains to the administration of Federal funds and maintenance of accountable records covering all military equipment and property loaned to Florida by the Federal government. The United States Property and Fiscal Officer is charged with the responsibility of insuring that the maximum of authorized equipment consistent with training needs is requisitioned from proper supply agencies of the Army and that such equipment is made available to the Army National Guard units in order to adequately carry out their training mission. He also maintains accounting records of the Federal funds allocated to the State and insures proper expenditure.

Since 1946, the United States Government has been increasing the Federal Support of the Army National Guard to this State to the degree that during the Fiscal Years 1957 and 1958, Federal funds in excess of twelve million dollars were expended for the operation of the Army National Guard of Florida. In addition, the value of the military equipment loaned to Florida by the Federal government now exceeds twenty-two million dollars.

Maintenance of Equipment

The Combined Field Maintenance Shop of the Florida Army National Guard is located at Camp Blanding and is responsible for the performance of all field maintenance, state inspections, and contact team support for the units of the Florida Army National Guard. Organizational Maintenance Shops are located at Miami, Tampa, Jacksonville

(2), Haines City, Eustis, Bonifay, Camp Blanding, Lake City, Tallahassee, Pensacola, St. Augustine, Daytona Beach, St. Petersburg, Sarasota, West Palm Beach, and Cocoa, for the purpose of performing organizational maintenance on vehicles and other mechanical equipment within their respective area. The main Army Aircraft Maintenance Section of the Combined Field Maintenance Shop activity is located at Thomas Cole Imeson Airport, Jacksonville, Florida, with subsections at Tampa, Lakeland, and Miami. The Storage Section, Maintenance Division (Equipment Concentration Site) is located at Camp Blanding for the purpose of storing and maintaining equipment for which units do not have adequate facilities at their armory. This equipment is processed and deprocessed once each year and in-storage maintenance is performed as required. This activity received from units for storage approximately 1640 items of equipment. During the biennium there was only one (1) item of equipment evacuated to a Regular Army installation for repair.

Lost time, due to injury to personnel from accidents, in the various activities during the biennium is as follows:

Combined Field Maintenance Shop — One hundred and twenty-eight (128) manhours, or .0006% of total manhours available.

Storage Section, Maintenance Division — Forty-three (43) manhours, or .00023% of total manhours available.

Army Aircraft Maintenance Sections — 0 manhours or 0% of total manhours available.

Organizational Maintenance Shops — Two (2) manhours, or .0000015% of total manhours available.

During the biennium, personnel from the Combined Field Maintenance Shop performed contact team and inspection services amounting to 1640 man days. This service was in addition to normal field maintenance activities.

AIR NATIONAL GUARD

GENERAL

The years 1957 - 1958 were years of continued advancement and improvement for the Florida Air National Guard. All goals established in strength manning, training, etc., have been reached with little or no difficulty. The mission of the Florida Air National Guard, both State and Federal, has remained unchanged.

After the reorganization on 1 July 1956 from a separate augmented squadron into an Air Defense Fighter Group, the unit was manned at approximately 50% of authorized strength. An all-out recruiting drive was initiated. From the date of that reorganization until 10 April 1958, the group had a net gain of over 300 personnel. On 10 April 1958, the group was again reorganized under a revised Unit Manning Document. This reorganization reduced the overall authorized strength by approximately 235, and left the unit with excess personnel. Individuals whose performance of duties had been sub-standard have been discharged to bring the assigned strength down to recommended manning levels. At the present time a file of applications is maintained on prospective enlistees. As vacancies occur in the group, only men of the highest calibre are selected to fill the vacancies. This situation where the unit can be selective of its enlistees, instead of taking any and all applicants in order to meet strength requirements, is considered very healthy to the unit.

In March 1958, in an effort to better acquaint the public with the job the Air National Guard is doing, the 125th Fighter Group was host at an open house and air show at Imeson Airport. Latest equipment displays, group and individual flying demonstrations thrilled the crowd estimated at more than 86,000. In addition to the large crowd in attendance, several thousands were turned back due to traffic tie-ups.

In April 1958, the group headquarters building was completed and occupied. This building was the first of its type authorized for any Air National Guard facility. It contains space for all administrative offices of the group and includes a complete dispensary and a mess hall facilities.

TRAINING

Objectives

The overall objective of the training program is to improve the readiness and capability of our units and personnel. Training is divided into four major categories, i.e., school training, field training, air base training, and supplemental training exercises.

School Training

School training is conducted at schools of the Regular service and factory schools. All enlistees without prior service are required to attend the 11 weeks USAF basic training. The extended training program, which was first offered by the National Guard Bureau in March 1957, is an excellent opportunity for the young man to benefit himself and his unit. This program allows the airman to attend four weeks of basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, then report to the technical school of his choice. He receives the remainder of his basic training in conjunction with the technical course. Upon completion of the technical course, he returns to his home unit to complete the remainder of a six-months training period in On-the-job training. Results of this program were good in 1957 and excellent in 1958 when sufficient spaces were obtained by the National Guard Bureau from the Air Training Command in the various schools.

In addition to the school program, personnel have been made aware of the value of extension courses available to them. In 1957 two hundred forty-one (241) members applied for extension courses and in 1958 two hundred sixteen (216) applied.

Field Training 1957

In 1957, field training was conducted at Travis Field, Savannah, Georgia during the period 11 - 25 August, with 95% of assigned personnel attending. The advance planning was excellent in that the group movement was made without incident and flying operations began at 0620 hours the following day. All flying and ground training goals established prior to the period were met without difficulty.

This marked the first year that the Florida Air National Guard went to field training as a separate group. A completely professional approach was adopted in the operation of all facilities.

Field Training 1958

In 1958, the group again returned to the permanent field training site at Savannah, Georgia, during the period 22 June - 6 July, with 94% of assigned personnel attending. Advance planning again was excellent. However, weather hampered flying operations considerably. Although the unit aircraft are an all-weather type, CAA air traffic controls were inadequate for operations with weather minimums for which the aircraft were designed to operate.

Air Base Training

Air Base training is conducted in accordance with unit training directives and includes on-the-job training which is used for advancing assigned personnel to higher skill levels. The group training program was rated excellent during the last Federal inspection.

A successful On-the-Job Program was effected during the field training period. Also, an F-86D Mobile Training Detachment was utilized for training of maintenance personnel and specialists who had not previously received this type of training.

Air Force Job Knowledge Tests and Proficiency Tests are used to test the job knowledge of the individuals. Test results and the supervisor's rating of the individual's job performance are used as the standards for advancement of the airman in his career field. Standards are the same as those required of an airman in the Regular service. Results of the testing program for 1957 indicate 82.9% passing and an 83% for 1958. These results compare very favorably with the better Air Force units.

Supplemental Training Exercises

Supplemental exercises include aircrew weapons employment consisting of rocketry, accelerated pilot transition for newly assigned pilots, and exercises and alerts conducted by the State Military Department, National Guard Bureau and the Air Defense Command.

Air Defense Command Alert Program

On 1 January 1957, the Florida Air National Guard assumed the Air Defense Command alert commitment for the Jacksonville area. The objective of this program is to supplement the regular Air Defense Forces and to improve our fighter aircrew proficiency. This commitment began with approximately fourteen (14) hours per day participation, seven days a week. On 1 October 1958 the commitment was changed to an around-the-clock basis, every day. Pilots participating in this program are rotated insofar as practicable, to assure each of them receiving the maximum amount of training.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The years 1957 and 1958 were banner years as far as the Florida Air National Guard receiving national recognition. The Fighter Squadron was the recipient of the Flying Safety Award, one of two given nationwide, for achieving an outstanding safety record in preventing aircraft accidents. The unit was also awarded the Duncan and Heinz Certificate for excellent transient maintenance services.

The grand finale occurred in October 1958, when the Rocket Team from the 125th Fighter Group, representing the Air National Guard in the Sixth World Wide Weapons Meet at Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida, walked away with first place in the meet, firing a perfect score. They were competing against the best teams the Air Force had. The teams represented the Air Force in Europe, Air Force in the Pacific, the Air Training Command and the Air Defense Command.

FACILITIES

National Guard Air Base

During the current biennium, utilizing Federal funds only, the following facilities were constructed at the Florida National Guard Air

Base, located at Thomas Cole Imeson Airport, Jacksonville, Florida:

Group Headquarters Building
Flight Simulator Building
Rocket Storage Building
Additional Aircraft Parking Ramps

The Florida Air National Guard facility is among the best in the country. The facilities utilized which were constructed entirely of Federal funds are valued in excess of $2,000,000.00.

State Fiscal Support

The facilities of the Florida Air National Guard at Thomas Cole Imeson Airport, Jacksonville, Florida are maintained by the Military Department under a service contract agreement between the United States of America and the State of Florida. Under the provisions of the service contract, the Federal Government reimburses the Military Department for 75% of the cost of maintenance and operation of the facilities, and utilities.

FEDERAL FUNDS AND EQUIPMENT

Through the National Guard Bureau, the United States Government allocates Federal funds to the Florida Air National Guard. The United States Property and Fiscal Officer for Florida is charged with the duty of handling all details as pertains to the administration of Federal funds and maintenance of accountable records covering all military equipment and property loaned to Florida by the Federal government. The United States Property and Fiscal Officer is charged with the responsibility of insuring that the maximum of authorized equipment consistent with training needs is secured from proper agencies of the Air Force and is made available to the Air National Guard units. He maintains accounting records of the Federal funds allocated to the State and insures proper expenditure. During 1957 and 1958 Federal funds in excess of three million dollars were expended for the operation of the Air National Guard of Florida. In addition, the value of the military equipment loaned now exceeds eleven million dollars.

MAINTENANCE

The 125th Fighter Group (AD), Florida Air National Guard, employs approximately 88 Air Technicians to perform maintenance at its Base, Thomas Cole Imeson Airport, Jacksonville, Florida. These maintenance personnel perform all organizational, and much of the field maintenance on both the primary mission and support mission aircraft; the ground power aircraft support equipment; all motor vehicles, including fire and crash equipment; the flight simulator; and base communications system, which also includes radio teletype and point to point radio systems.

During this biennium, the 125th Fighter Group (AD) converted from the conventional F-80C Day Fighter to the highly complex F-86D All Weather Fighter Interceptor aircraft. Upon arrival of the first F-86D aircraft, 1 July 1956, the Maintenance Section of the Florida Air National Guard was faced with the task of proving that Air National Guard personnel could effectively maintain such a complicated weapons system. The Maintenance Section accepted this challenge and has successfully accomplished the mission assigned.

In the aircraft maintenance field several new and highly technical jobs were required, authorized and added to maintain the electronically controlled power plant, the all weather flight system, and the self-computing and automatic rocket firing fire control system. In addition to the normal maintenance performed by this Section, the Maintenance Section handled an average of 86 transit aircraft each month, and has successfully participated in the Air Defense Command Combat Alert since 1 January 1957.

The experience level of all mechanics and specialists, both Air Technician and Weekend Trainee, has risen steadily as the result of a thorough training program. Actual on-the-job experience, combined with classroom exercises, is providing this unit with the depth and polish needed for sustained superior operations. The state of maintenance of aircraft and equipment contributed greatly to the 125th Fighter Group (AD) being awarded the Air Force Flying Safety Award for 1957.
